

Holiday Retirement Provides All Residents with 24/7 Access to Doctors and Other Medical Professionals

Telehealth service brings 24/7 comfort to residents of Holiday Retirement communities. Convenient access to doctors and healthcare providers gives seniors faster care, reduces health risks from public places, and limits stress on healthcare systems.

Winter Park, Florida (March 13, 2020) — Holiday Retirement, the largest independent senior living provider in the U.S., announced today that it has provided telehealth access and services to the residents of Holiday's 261 senior living communities. Holiday's residents have access to MeMD's national network of healthcare providers for treatment of urgent-care situations and other conditions in the safety of their Holiday home.

Lilly Donohue, CEO of Holiday Retirement, commented "Telehealth helps Holiday's residents get care faster, avoid the problems of time and transportation with an office appointment, and get treatment for many conditions, from chronic pain to fever symptoms. An outbreak such as COVID-19 requires that we find ways to help our residents have faster access to healthcare providers."

Holiday Retirement's long-standing protocols for planning and responding to infectious disease protect the health and wellbeing of our communities. "Our seniors should avoid public places of risk as much as possible," Donohue added. "It's essential that we constantly find new ways to help our residents during events such as the COVID-19 outbreak. It's also important we play any role possible in reducing potential stress on the U.S. healthcare system from COVID-19. MeMD telehealth gives residents a level of comfort in knowing they can talk to a doctor quickly from the safety of their Holiday home."
